FINE DAY'S SPORT AT FAIR GROUNDS.

Every Race on the Card Was Won by the Horse Who Figured to Win It.

VARRO IN HIS BEST MOOD.

Mr. Hutchinson's Chestnut Colt Ran a Ripping Race at a Mile-Doctor Burns Again Proves Himself a Colt of Class.

There was some exceptionally true and correct form shown at the Pair Grounds race track yesterday. Every race was won by the horse that properly figured to win it. This by no means implies that favorites were uniformly successful. As a matter of fact, four favorites did win. Doctor Burns and Crossmolina were not favorites, but they were none the less the horses that they were none the less the horses that figured to win the race.

Varro came along with one of his scintillant races—ran a mile in 1:30½ after slight interference at the start, and beat La Destrous handlily, though she beat him last time they met. She had a nine-pound swing in her favor from that race, too.

R. Murphy gave Varro a capital ride yesterday, whipped him into unwilling speed when he wanted to loaf, took all the short ways with him, kept him out of pockets, and won handlily enough. La Destrous, a sweet filly indeed, ran right to her mark in the event. Rushfields, a consistent old rasthe event. Rushfields, a consistent old ras-cal, came with a great rush at the end and got third money from Peaceful, who was running a ripping race for a first out in hot company.

This race proved that Varro is a 3-yearold of the highest class, and that he should always do better than 1:41 with less than 100 pounds on him.

Bector Burns Again Displays Merit.

Mr. Christy's good colt, Doctor Burns, proved himself a clinker by winning the third race at five and one-half furlongs proved nimself a clinker by winning the third race at five and one-haif furlongs by half a length from the unlucky Satchel, who always seems stated to run second. Doctor Burns had a lot of early speed, and Dale, on Satchel, let him get too far away in the first part of it. Mr. Christy's horse was all out at the end and had to take a drive to stall of Mr. Schreiber's pretty filly. Had Dale begun his ride earlier Satchel would have won. This does not mean that she can beat Doctor Burns next time. The horse seemed a bit short of work, and should run a much better race when he tries again. He showed all kinds of nice speed, took his drive like a stake horse and guickly recovered from his weariness. Indeed, it seems that Mr. Christy has a jewel in this stout fellow of honest, yet humble, origin, whose father and mother could not win a fixed race at an outlawed track, yet who seems as good a colt as has been shown at the Fair Grounds this season. The time of his race yesterday, 15%, for five and a half furiongs, shows how good a colt he really is. He was not within ten pounds of his race at that.

Admiral Schley at Good Odds.

Admiral Schley at Good Odds.

Admiral Schley loked like a 1 to 2 shot in the first race, but the insane books laid $ to 2 against him. It was a walkover for him. Weddersteand, the kine of the season of him. Weddersteand the kine of the season of him.

Admiral Schley looked like a 1 to 2 shot in the first race, but the insane books laid 3 to 2 against him. It was a walkover for him. Wedderstrand, that king of finishers and deuce of finishers, got him off well. That was all that was needed. He rolled and floundered at the finish, but he is an ugly actioned horse, anyhow.

Wild Katie, who ran second in this race, performed remarkably well. Off last and last for a quarter of a mile, she came around a huge and scattered hunch on the turn, raced to the front and was only beaten by her effort. Had she gotten off well. Admiral Schley might have had trouble. Wild Katie's race was one of the heat seen at the track this season. Though Harry Pulliam warmed up fike a cripple, he was made favorite in the second race. Crossmolina simply won it all the way. Wedderstrand so her off well and that was all. He began riding her with a slack rein around the stable turn, though he was kicking her at the same time. She fell back into the ruck as if heaten. Frank Pearce, who was making the pace, seemed to have it won as they bent for home, but Wedderstrand saved a lot of ground on the turn and stole up on the inside. He rode a loose fuith, but the mare won by a half length, where she should have won by fifty yards. Frank Pearce was second, where he might have been first had not Barringer ewung

Time—12, 28, 28, 28, 191, 1:148, Start good; won handly; second easily. Winner, K. D. Orr's h. g., 5, by Speculator—Granny A. Grantor was much the best of the lot; came around his borses and won easily at the finish. Percy R. had no excuses. Ben Ledi ran a whipping race under very incompetent handling; can do well under good boy. Zack Ford and Fred Hessig were off bad. O'Neill gave Zack Ford a very ugly ride.

-he has been careless at the post and seemingly indifferent whether he got away or not. As O'Brien has been ill all week, O'Nelli's chance to lead all the jockeys has been good, but he seems to be letting it slip. Eugenia S. Looks Like the Best Bet of the Day.

been closer up. Doctor Burns was scarcely at his best, owing to lack of work over the route he was asked to travel.

The "Irish Brigade" had W. J. Baker for a cinch in the last race yesterday. He got off in front, turned the stretch corner all by himself, had them singing "Faugh a Baliagh," which means "clear the way," and then guit to nothing, while Grantor came along and won at his case.

The Republic picked four winners in yesterday's card, and two second choices won the odd races. After two weeks of in-and-out running, which stood the handicappers on their heads, this success was like balm in Gliead.

On his last race, where he was left at the post and ran third to Terra Firma and Royal Albert, Phonolite should win to-day. plunge on him began to talk about it. Caller Jones despised him, and said: "If he finishes fourth i shall be very glad to oblige you by eating him." Jones has been associating with The Gadfiy and is using Mayfair English. He did not eat Colonel Cluke, though the horse finished fourth. Colonel Cluke or a stable boy, but was beaten by two lengths for first money. With a licensed engineer up, he might have landed the goods.

Willie Harris, Mr. Bruen's assistant, has been doing tremendous work the last few days in bad fields. His daring and clever handling of bad actors has frequently brought applause from the stand, which is always inclined to do the other thing. Not since the days of "Pole Jim" has the furf seen a trackman like Harris, and as a handler of refractory breakers he has the famed black man beaten a block.

Varro's race under Murphy yesterday was a poem. He was taken well through an ugly jam at the first turn; made run when he wanted to loaf, taken the short way, and won cleverly. Varro has had a deaf of variety in the way of boys on him. As he is a shifty sort of a horse, Mr. Brady might, with profit, put the Jockey Club idea of consistency in employment of riders in force with regard to him. That is, have him ridden by boys of equal ability as far and overlooked at this meeting Last Four Well-Played Favorites Met Defeat at Newport.

Although 10 to 1 was offered on her chances, the public refused to take Polson at any price. Weather fair and track fast.
